By the appointment of Governor F. B. Weeks, and approval of the general assembly, Hon. Gardiner Greene of this city today begins a term of eight years as judge of the superior court of Connecticut. The necessity of the appointment of a new judge for the superior court bench at this time arose from the fact that Chief Justice Simeon E. Baldwin today becomes 70 years of age, which disqualifies him from holding office longer. He concluded his labors on the bench Thursday at New Haven, when all cases before the supreme court of errors were decided. The judges presented the retiring chief justice a handsome glass and silver inkstand.

Judge Frederick Hall of the supreme court bench now becomes chief justice and Judge Robinson of the superior court will fill the vacancy caused by his advancement. It is to fill the vacancy in the superior court bench that Judge Gardiner Greene is appointed. He will take the oath of office today and at once take up the duties for which he is so well qualified. During the past several months he has been a daily attendant at court for the purpose of familiarizing himself with the technical procedure and the routine of the duties of a judge.

Judge Greene's first assignment is at Waterbury on Feb. 15, it being a criminal case against Walter J. Smith, charged with the murder of John J. Smith. The criminal business will be completed by that time. This will last until March 1. On April 4 he goes to New Haven and will remain there until the first of July.

Judge Greene was born Aug. 31, 1851, in Norwich. He was graduated from the Norwich Free Academy in 1870, and from Columbia university law school in 1877. He was admitted to the bar in 1878, and to the Connecticut bar in 1879, and to the Connecticut bar in 1879, and to the Connecticut bar in 1879.

On April 4, 1894, Mr. Greene was married to Louise Estlin Reynolds of this city, daughter of the late Henry Lee Reynolds and Mary (Hill) Reynolds. Both Mr. and Mrs. Greene are members of the Episcopal church. Mr. Greene being one of the wardens.

FALLING HAIR
Many People Have a Simple Way of Stopping It.
It was Dr. Sangerford, of Paris, who first discovered that dandruff and falling hair were caused by a microbe. And now that Parisian Sage, the remedy that kills the dandruff germ, is sold in every town in America, the clean people of this country have awakened to the fact that dandruff is unnecessary; that falling hair and itching scalp can be quickly stopped, and that people who use Parisian Sage will never grow bald.
